

Greg and Kim Taylor are passionate about sharing Jesus with young people and inspiring youth and young adults for mission and service.

Pastor Greg and Kim have been a ministry team from the very beginning of their relationship. While in college, they met at Camp Cedar Falls and then went on to work at Camp Au Sable under Gary Thurber. It was at Camp Au Sable that Greg felt the call to ministry and continued to study theology at Andrews University where Kim finished her education degree. Greg and Kim taught at Grand Rapids Adventist Academy in Michigan and later accepted the call to teach at Spencerville Adventist Academy in Maryland.

After seven years in the classroom, Greg accepted the call to be the youth Pastor at the Glendale Seventh-day Adventist Church in Indianapolis. Soon thereafter, Greg and Kim received a call to Wisconsin to serve as the youth director team for the conference. After 6 years in Wisconsin, they served as the youth director team for the Kentucky-Tennessee Conference for 6 years. Currently, Kim & Greg are the Youth & Young Adult team at the Southern Union Conference of SDA.

Pastor Greg and Kim have two amazing children named Matthew and Joshua. Matthew is attending Southern Adventist University and Joshua is at Madison Academy. Along with the adventures of being a youth director, Greg enjoys running, playing basketball, playing guitar and spending time with his beautiful family. Kim enjoys tennis, long walks, playing piano, listening to music & most of all time with family.

They are excited to help organize off site activities for the BTP camporee and can't wait to see you all there!
